

Open European Conference on Streaming Technology in Education in Europe

Date:

14 - 16 June, 2006

Venue:

University of Patras, Greece

Organiser:

The consortium of the Minerva eSTREAM project

Target groups:

Teachers experienced with using streaming technology or interested in using it – SOCRATES – projects working in the field of the educational use of IT – Decision makers expected to make decisions having an impact on the use of IT in schools – Educational and other experts active with promoting the use of IT in schools – Researchers working in the thematic area – Multimedia publishers and content providers aiming at the educational sector

-  Present and future technologies, the impact of streaming media in the classroom
-  IPR issues
-  Pedagogical aspects of streaming media
-  Transnational issues and multilingualism
-  Standards and standardisation

For scientific papers a peer review process and post conference publication is foreseen.

Socrates
Minerva

Education and Culture

Please find more information on the conference from July 2005 onwards at the eStream Homepage

<http://estream.schule.at>